*

☐ Yes

☒ No

Please explain your answer to question 6.

In Alaska, the right to privacy is expressly protected by Article I, Section 22 of the Alaska Constitution. I believe decisions about pregnancy and abortion should remain between a patient and their health-care provider, without politicians interfering in private medical decisions.

Abortion is also a health-care issue, and public policy in our state and nation should be informed by the best available medical evidence. Alaskans should be able to access safe, legal reproductive health care without unnecessary barriers.

7. As an elected official will you support legislation to protect abortion rights, including travel across state lines to access the service if necessary? *

☒ Yes

☐ No

8. As an elected official, will you publicly support efforts to provide and improve local access to: *

10. In your view what are the most appropriate public policies that the community, municipality, and citizenry can enact to address the issues of teen pregnancy, Alaska's high rate of sexually transmitted infections, sexual assault and abuse, and reproductive health access for everyone? *

I support evidence-based, cost-effective policies that reduce unintended teen pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections, prevent sexual assault and abuse, and ensure Alaskans can access comprehensive reproductive health care regardless of income or where they live.

Teen pregnancy: Alaska should provide age-appropriate, medically accurate sexual-health education that gives young people the information and skills to make responsible decisions. This should include information about abstinence, contraception, condoms, and emergency contraception, while also emphasizing healthy relationships, consent, and communication. Supporting parents of teens and giving young people access to positive youth activities and community programs can also help reduce risk.

Sexually transmitted infections: Alaska should expand access to vaccination; medically accurate prevention information; and affordable STI/HIV screening, prevention, and treatment. Young, rural, and low-income Alaskans face particular barriers to accessing these services, so making preventive care available regardless of these factors is important.

Sexual assault and abuse: I was proud to support the comprehensive crime legislation enacted this year, which included provisions raising the age of consent to 18, addressing AI-generated child sexual abuse material, establishing sexual-assault-kit tracking, and prohibiting sexual assault by health-care workers. I will continue working on evidence-based policies that protect victims, improve investigations and prosecutions, and prevent sexual violence. This includes ensuring, as one example, that the Departments of Public Safety, Law, and Administration have the budgetary resources necessary to follow through with the enacted law.

Reproductive health access: Alaskans should be able to access contraception, preventive care, STI testing and treatment, prenatal care, and abortion services safely and affordably. Alaska's geography makes access particularly difficult for many communities, so the state should support health-care providers and practical solutions that expand access for rural and underserved Alaskans.

11. Do you support adoption of comprehensive, medically-accurate, age-appropriate sexual health education policies and funding at the local and state levels for programs that have been proven effective? *

☒ Yes

☐ No

Please use this space to address any additional comments or points of clarification.

It is extremely important to me that women have reproductive health rights. As a woman, I have been privileged to hear personal stories validating the importance of this. And as a trained social worker (Masters in Social Work), my experiences and learning show how complicated of a world we live in. Often times the myth that strangers are most likely to hurt us remains strong, when intimate relationship violence is more likely. And age knows no barrier for sexual, physical, and emotional abuse.

Please explain your answer to question 6.

I do not think the Dobbs decision was well-made. As Governor, I will swear an oath to uphold the Alaska Constitution, which has a strong, explicit right to privacy.

I will defend the Alaska Supreme Court's rulings finding that reproductive decisions fall within the constitutionally protected right to privacy, and that limits on public funding for abortion are unconstitutional.

10. In your view what are the most appropriate public policies that the community, municipality, and citizenry can enact to address the issues of teen pregnancy, Alaska's high rate of sexually transmitted infections, sexual assault and abuse, and reproductive health access for everyone? *

Early intervention is essential. Comprehensive, evidence-based, and age-appropriate sexual education is proven to reduce teen pregnancy and STI infection. Alaska schools should provide this, paired with education on healthy relationships that emphasizes consent.

We also need to continue to defend — and expand — access to reproductive health care in Alaska. My administration will champion this issue, including by expanding access to care for remote and rural communities, supporting providers, and trusting experts and doctors to follow evidence-based guidelines.

Specifically, I look forward to expanding access to reproductive health care — and health care generally — for Alaskans who live far away from clinics in our state's cities. That means empowering community health workers, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants to practice at the top of their licenses, including by ensuring that qualified providers can continue to provide abortions, and ensuring that access to contraception is straightforward — and affordable.

Please explain your answer to question 6.

Dobbs took a right people had held for 50 years and handed it to politicians in Washington, DC. Twenty states are now enforcing bans, and women in those states are being turned away from emergency rooms. Alaska is better protected than most because our own constitution's privacy clause covers this, and I do not believe that protection should depend on the makeup of a court. Health care decisions belong in a private room between a patient and her doctor. The government does not belong in that room.

10. In your view what are the most appropriate public policies that the community, municipality, and citizenry can enact to address the issues of teen pregnancy, Alaska's high rate of sexually transmitted infections, sexual assault and abuse, and reproductive health access for everyone? *

I spent 25 years in Alaska schools as a teacher, principal and superintendent, and I have watched what happens when we teach kids almost nothing and hope it works out. Medically accurate, age-appropriate sex education works. Abstinence-only does not. I would fund the programs with evidence behind them and stop funding the ones that only make adults comfortable.

We also need to expand access to care across the state. Too many communities have no clinic or pharmacy. Nick Begich has voted to cut health care access. We need to invest in rural health infrastructure, including paying well enough to keep qualified providers in small communities.

11. Do you support adoption of comprehensive, medically-accurate, age-appropriate sexual health education policies and funding at the local and state levels for programs that have been proven effective? *
